Professional Experience

Kerry + Lindsay Clare have completed projects ranging from public, educational, commercial, attached housing to single residences.

Since starting practice in 1979 they have received 28 state and national awards from the Australian Institute of Architects for housing, public, educational, recycling, civic and commercial projects. Major awards include the 2008 AIA Queensland Public Architecture Award for the USC Chancellery, the 2007 RAIA National Public Architecture Award for the Queensland Gallery of Modern Art, the 1996 RAIA National Environment Citation, the 1995 RAIA National Commercial Award, the 1993 National BHP/Belle Steel Futures Award and the RAIA National Robin Boyd Award in 1992 and 1995.

Their work has been included in over 150 national and international books, periodicals and publications. Exhibitions of their work have also been held in New York, Tokyo, Sydney, Melbourne, Perth and the 1991 and 2008 Venice Biennale, the 1996 Milan Triennale and the 1996 UIA Congress, Barcelona.

They both were appointed as Adjunct Professors, Faculty of Architecture, University of Sydney from 1998 to 2005.

Their Cotton Tree social housing project was selected as one of ten worldwide for inclusion in the 'Ten Shades of Green' exhibition in New York; an exhibition demonstrating architectural excellence and environmental sensitivity organised by the Architectural League of New York.

Kerry is a member of the City of Sydney Design Advisory Panel, providing advice on public and private developments to maintain high standards of urban design.
